- The Gospel disrupts what the world finds profitable

- The Gospel disrupts what the world finds profitable
 - What idols in your life are being exposed by the Gospel?
 - Are you willing to lose something “profitable” but ungodly?

The background of the slide is a dark, monochromatic illustration of a stone building. The building features a prominent gabled roof with a central chimney. The walls are composed of irregular, textured stone blocks. Two windows are visible: one on the left side, which is partially obscured by the text, and one on the right side. The overall aesthetic is that of a classic, perhaps medieval or early modern, stone structure.
